Omicron Delta Epsilon – ΟΔΕ

http://www.omicrondeltaepsilon.org/

ΟΔΕ, the International honor society for economics, is now accepting applications for membership.

Omicron Delta Epsilon is dedicated to the encouragement of excellence in economics. It encourages devotion on the part of its members as economists to the advancement of their science and to the scholarly effort to make freedom from want and deprivation a reality for all mankind.

Benefits of Omicron Delta Epsilon Membership

- International recognition of scholastic achievement in economics.
- A publication outlet for promising undergraduate and graduate student papers in The American Economist, the journal of Omicron Delta Epsilon.
- Closer academic and professional relationships with the faculty at your university.
- Closer professional and social relationships with fellow ODE members at your university.
- Closer professional and social relationships with ODE members at other universities with Omicron Delta Epsilon chapters.
- ODE sponsored meetings at the annual conventions of regional, national and international associations.
- Eligibility to compete for the Frank Taussig and Irving Fisher Awards (both cash prizes and publication of essays).
- Eligibility to compete for the Outstanding Student Leader Award.
- One-year subscription to The American Economist.

Eligibility requirements for Undergraduate Students:

1. Completion of 12 credits of ECON coursework including ECON 341 and 343.
2. GPA of at least 3.5 in all ECON coursework completed.
3. GPA of at least 3.0 overall.
4. An Economics Major is NOT required but a genuine interest in Economics is.

Eligibility requirements for Graduate Students:

1. Completion of one semester of full-time graduate level work.
2. GPA of at least 3.0 in graduate coursework.

A lifetime membership fee of $35 is required. Membership applications are available in the economics department office (5th floor of Barry Hall) or at the following web address

Fill out the application and submit it, along with the membership fee of $35, to the NDSU ODE chapter advisor Dr. Jeremy Jackson. Dr. Jackson's office is in Barry Hall room 506.

Applications for Spring 2015 induction are due by March 12, 2015.