Graduate Defense Seminar
Speaker: Mary Rodenhuis, NDSU ANSC Graduate Student
Topic: Effects of grain Type and Oil Concentration of Corn Dried Distillers Grains plus Solubles on Feedlot Performance, Carcass Quality, and Site of Digestion
Date/Time: Thursday, May 26; 9:00 a.m.
Location: Hultz Hall 104

Mary Rodenhuis is originally from Needham, IN. She graduated from Purdue University with a B.S. in animal science in May 2014. She is working on an M.S. degree in ruminant nutrition with a focus on feedlot performance and feeding behavior in finishing cattle under the direction of Dr. Kendall Swanson.

Reynolds Named ASAS Fellow – NDSU News, 5/25/16
Dr. Larry Reynolds, University Distinguished Professor in Animal Sciences, has been named a Fellow of the American Society of Animal Science (ASAS). The award recognizes persons for distinguished service to the animal industry and recipients must have been continuous members of ASAS for a minimum of 25 years. This is the highest recognition the society bestows on members and recognizes the many significant contributions that Dr. Reynolds has made to the field over the years. Dr. Reynolds will receive the award at the Joint Annual Meeting of ASAS in July.

Some of Dr. Reynolds’ other honors include the ASAS Animal and Growth and Development Award, the ASAS Animal Physiology and Endocrinology Award, the NDSU Eugene R. Dahl Excellence in Research Award, and NDSU’s 51st Faculty Lectureship.

Dr. Reynolds was nominated by David Buchanan, associate dean for academic programs in the College of Agriculture, Food Systems, and Natural resources.
Share Research Photos on Graduate School Social Media
– Sonya Goergen, Graduate School Marketing Coordinator and Melissa Selders-Ortez Graduate School Student Service Associate
The Graduate School is interested in sharing photos of graduate students conducting lab or field research or working on a practicum or internship this summer. Photos would be shared on the Graduate School Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram sites. Photos can be anything from a selfie in front of a practicum site to active research to students taking a break out in the field. Photos can also include a caption, so please describe the photo. Photos can be sent to ndsu.gradschool@ndsu.edu.