Position Announcement
Assistant or Associate Professor Extension Meat Specialist
Department of Animal Science
www.ans.iastate.edu

The Department of Animal Science at Iowa State University, Ames, IA seeks applicants for a 12-month tenured associate or full professor as the extension meat specialist. Position responsibilities are described as 70% extension, 20% research, and 10% administration (professor-in-charge) of the Iowa State University Meat Laboratory facility and staff.

The Extension Meat Specialist is responsible for the dissemination of information on meat science and meat technology to meat industry personnel, livestock producer groups, consumer groups, and the public in Iowa, nationally, and internationally. The Extension Meat Specialist provides subject matter expertise in the areas of; processed meat product production, sanitation, food safety and HACCP, carcass fabrication, carcass evaluation, meat quality, livestock harvest, merchandising, packaging, product handling and storage.

The successful candidate is expected to develop an effective and impactful extension program using innovative communication tools, including written, oral, and electronic media; establish an extramurally-funded research program that generates peer-reviewed publications; mentor graduate students in extension and research projects; and work collaboratively across the interface of disciplines that might include animal science, meat science and technology, food science, and economics.

The Department of Animal Science is committed to achieving excellence through a diverse workforce: The successful applicant is expected to enhance opportunities for diverse participants in all of their activities. All faculty members have a common responsibility to support and sustain our core values and are expected to convey good citizenship within department, college, and university activities, interact collegially and maintain the highest standards of integrity and ethical behavior.

Applications must be submitted electronically at http://www.iastatejobs.com for consideration. Please be prepared to attach a letter of application, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, teaching philosophy, names and complete contact information for three references, and unofficial transcripts from all relevant institutions. For more information, contact Dr. Don Beermann at beermann@iastate.edu or Call 515-294-2160. Please direct questions about the application process to employment@iastate.edu or 515-294-4800. Applications will be accepted until June 30, 2019, or until a suitable candidate is found.

Iowa State University is an Affirmative Action employer and will take action to ensure that employment practices are free of discrimination. Iowa State University is committed to achieving excellence through a diverse workforce. Iowa State University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, age, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, sex, marital status, disability, or status as a U.S. veteran. Inquiries can be directed to the Director of Equal Opportunity and Compliance, 3280 Beardshear Hall, (515) 294-7612.