McKenzie County Seed Improvement Association is a non-profit organization supported by check-offs from the seed increase program. MCSIA works closely with the NDSU Experiment Stations, State Seed Dept. and NDSU Extension Service to promote general crop improvement practices and increase varieties best adapted to the state and to make seed available to the farmers of the county.

MCSIA actively supports research, extension and education programs at NDSU and throughout the state. They encourage the development and implementation of practical and scientific crop production practices. They sponsor youth activities such as 4-H awards in McKenzie County.

MCSIA has been instrumental in production and distribution of new varieties coordinating with the NDSU Foundation Seedstocks project during new variety releases and increases.

Annual availability of these scholarships is contingent upon the approval of MCSIA Board of Directors.
