

A quick call to the local veterinarian and a good calf vaccination program mean less worry for the producer.